Up the river Hudson in North America are the Catskill mountains. In a certain village at the foot of three mountains, there lived long ago a man named Rip Van Winkle. He was a simple and good natured person, a very kind neighbour and a great favourite among all the good wives of the village, whenever there was a squabble in the family of Rip, the women in the village always took his part and laid all the blame on Dome Van Winkle.

The Children of the village too would shout with joy, whenever, they saw him. He helped at their sports made play things for them, taught them to fly kites and shoot marbles and told them long stories of ghosts and Indians.

Rip had no love for labour, if it would bring him profit. He would sit for a whole day on a wet rock for fishing without murmur, even though he did not catch a single fish. He would carry a light gun on his shoulder for hours together and shoot only a few squirrels or wild pigeons.

Questions :

- i) When did Rip Van Winkle Live ?
- ii) Whom did the women in the village blame when there was a quarrel in the family of Rip ?
- iii) How did Rip help the children of the village ?
- iv) What kind of work did he dislike ?
- v) What kind of work would he go ?
