2018 English Language Arts Tests

As part of the New York State Board of Regents Reform Agenda, the New York State Education Department (NYSED) embarked on a comprehensive initiative to ensure that schools prepare students with the knowledge and skills they need to succeed in college and in their careers. To realize the goals of this agenda, changes have occurred in standards, curricula, and assessments. These changes impact pedagogy and, ultimately, student learning.

The New York State P–12 Learning Standards for English Language Arts & Literacy call for changes in what is expected from a teacher’s instructional approach. In English Language Arts (ELA), these shifts are characterized by an intense focus on complex, grade-appropriate nonfiction and fiction texts that require rigorous textual analysis, the application of academic language, and other key college- and career-readiness skills.

More specifically, the changes around which teachers should expect to focus their instruction involve six key shifts each in English Language Arts & Literacy. A more detailed description of these shifts can be found at Common Core Shifts (<http://engageny.org/resource/common-core-shifts/>).

Shifts in English Language Arts & Literacy
Shift 1	Balancing Informational & Literary Text	Students read a true balance of informational and literary texts.
Shift 2	Knowledge in the Disciplines	Students build knowledge about the world (domains/content areas) primarily through text rather than through the teacher or other activities.
Shift 3	Staircase of Complexity	Students read the central, grade-appropriate text around which instruction is centered. Teachers are patient, and create more time, space, and support in the curriculum for close reading.
Shift 4	Text-based Answers	Students engage in rich and rigorous evidence-based conversations about text.
Shift 5	Writing from Sources	Writing emphasizes use of evidence from sources to inform or make an argument.
Shift 6	Academic Vocabulary	Students continuously build the transferable vocabulary they need to access grade-level complex texts. This can be done effectively by spiraling like content in increasingly complex texts.

Beginning with the 2013 administration, the Grades 3–8 English Language Arts and Mathematics New York State Testing Program (NYSTP) was redesigned to measure student learning aligned with the instructional shifts necessitated by the standards. Since that time, several revisions have been made to improve the quality of the tests. Based on extensive feedback, NYSED removed time limits from the tests in 2016. Additionally, NYSED has been expanding the number of opportunities for NYS educators to become involved in the development of the English Language Arts Tests and has significantly increased the number of State educators involved in the test development process. NYSED remains committed to improving the quality of the State’s assessments and the experiences that students have taking these tests.

This document provides specific details about the 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests and the standards that they measure.

Option for Schools to Administer the English Language Arts Tests on Computer

Beginning in 2017, schools have had the option to administer the Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests on computer or paper. More information about this option is available at the NYSED computer-based testing (CBT) Support web site (<https://cbtsupport.nysed.gov/>).

Reduction in the Number of Test Sessions

In June 2017, the Board of Regents decided to reduce the number of days of student testing on the Grades 3–8 English Language Arts and Mathematics Tests from three sessions for each test to two. This change takes effect beginning with the tests that will be administered in 2018. In addition to reducing the number of sessions, the Board’s decision also reduces scoring time for teachers and may help enable more schools to transition sooner to CBT.

Learning Standards for English Language Arts

The New York State P–12 Learning Standards for English Language Arts & Literacy define general, cross-disciplinary literacy expectations that must be met for students (Standards) and characteristics of instruction (“Note on range and content”). The standards are organized into four overlapping strands: Reading, Writing, Language, and Speaking/Listening. In each of these strands, the shifts are borne out in the specific fluency, comprehension, analytic, and communication expectations stated in the standards. The Learning Standards present an integrated model of literacy in which standards mutually inform one another and progress fluidly across grades. A successful integration of the standards will provide students with the fluency, comprehension, analytic, and communication skills necessary to be on track for college and career readiness.

As detailed in the “Note on range and content” (found alongside the Grade K–5 Anchor Standards), teaching and learning have certain distinct characteristics. The characteristics, detailed below by strand, further articulate what New York State means by the instructional “Shifts” demanded by these standards. The information below is meant to provide the context and expectations to enable student success and inform teacher practice.

Reading

Grades 3–5

To build a foundation for college and career readiness, students:

- must read widely and deeply from among a broad range of high-quality, increasingly challenging literary and informational texts. Through extensive reading of stories, dramas, poems, and myths from diverse cultures and different time periods, students gain literary and cultural knowledge as well as familiarity with various text structures and elements (Shift 1: Balancing Informational & Literary Text; Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines; Shift 3: Staircase of Complexity).

By reading texts in history/social studies, science, and other disciplines, students:

- build a foundation of knowledge in these fields that will also give them the background to be better readers in all content areas. Students can only gain this foundation when the curriculum is intentionally and coherently structured to develop rich content knowledge within and across grades. Students also acquire the habits of reading independently and closely, which are essential to their future success (Shift 1: Balancing Informational & Literary Text; Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines; Shift 6: Academic Vocabulary).

Grades 6–8

To become college and career ready, students must grapple with works of exceptional craft and thought whose range extends across genres, cultures, and centuries. Such works offer insights into the human condition and serve as models for students’ own thinking and writing. Along with high-quality contemporary works, these texts should be chosen from among influential U.S. documents, the classics of American literature, and the timeless works from a diverse range of authors. Through wide and deep reading of literature and nonfiction of steadily increasing sophistication, students gain:

- a reservoir of literary and cultural knowledge, references, and images (Shift 1: Balancing Informational & Literary Text; Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines; Shift 3: Staircase of Complexity; Shift 6: Academic Vocabulary); and
- the ability to evaluate intricate arguments (Shift 1: Balancing Informational & Literary Text; Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines; Shift 5: Writing from Sources).

Writing

Grades 3–5

To build a foundation for college and career readiness, students need to:

- learn to use writing as a way of offering and supporting opinions, demonstrating an understanding of the subjects they are studying, and conveying real and imagined experiences and events (Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines; Shift 5: Writing from Sources);
- learn to appreciate that a key purpose of writing is to communicate clearly to an external, sometimes unfamiliar audience, and begin to adapt the form and content of their writing to accomplish a particular task and purpose (Shift 4: Text-based Answers; Shift 5: Writing from Sources); and
- develop the capacity to build knowledge on a subject through research projects and to respond analytically to literary and informational sources (Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines; Shift 5: Writing from Sources).

Grades 6–8

For students, writing is a key means of asserting and defending claims, showing what they know about a subject, and conveying what they have experienced, imagined, thought, and felt. To become college- and career-ready writers, students:

- must take the task, purpose, and audience into careful consideration, choosing words, information structures, and formats deliberately (Shift 5: Writing from Sources);
- need to know how to combine elements of different kinds of writing—for example, to use narrative strategies within argument and explanation within narrative—to produce complex and nuanced writing (Shift 4: Text-based Answers; Shift 5: Writing from Sources);
- need to be able to use technology strategically when creating, refining, and collaborating on writing;
- have to become adept at gathering information, evaluating sources, and citing material accurately, reporting findings from their research and analysis of sources in a clear and cogent manner (Shift 4: Text-based Answers; Shift 5: Writing from Sources); and
- must have the flexibility, concentration, and fluency to produce high-quality, first-draft text under a tight deadline, as well as the capacity to revisit and make improvements to a piece of writing over multiple drafts when circumstances encourage or require it (Shift 4: Text-based Answers; Shift 5: Writing from Sources).

To meet these goals students must devote significant time and effort to writing, producing numerous pieces over short and extended time frames throughout the year.

Language

Grades 3–5

To build a foundation for college and career readiness, students:

- must gain control over many conventions of standard English grammar, usage, and mechanics, as well as learn other ways to use language to convey meaning effectively;
- must also be able to determine or clarify the meaning of grade-appropriate words encountered through listening, reading, and media use (Shift 6: Academic Vocabulary); and
- come to appreciate that words have non-literal meanings, shadings of meaning, and relationships to other words, and expand their vocabulary in the course of studying content (Shift 6: Academic Vocabulary).

Grades 6–8

To become college and career ready, students:

- must have firm control over the conventions of standard English;
- must come to appreciate that language is at least as much a matter of craft as of rules and be able to choose words, syntax, and punctuation to express themselves and achieve particular functions and rhetorical effects;
- must also have extensive vocabularies built through reading and study, enabling them to comprehend complex texts and engage in purposeful writing about and conversations around content (Shift 1: Balancing Informational & Literary Text; Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines);
- need to become skilled in determining or clarifying the meaning of words and phrases they encounter, choosing flexibly from an array of strategies to aid them (Shift 6: Academic Vocabulary); and
- must learn to see an individual word as part of a network of other words—words, for example, that have similar denotations but different connotations (Shift 6: Academic Vocabulary).

Placing Language Standards in their own strand should not be taken as an indication that skills related to conventions, effective language use, and vocabulary are unimportant to reading, writing, speaking, and listening; indeed, they are inseparable from such contexts.

Speaking and Listening

Grades 3–5

To build a foundation for college and career readiness, students:

- must have ample opportunities to take part in a variety of rich, structured conversations—as part of a whole class, in small groups, and with a partner. To be productive members of these conversations requires that students contribute accurate, relevant information (Shift 4: Text-based Answers);
- respond to and develop what others have said; and
- make comparisons and contrasts, analyzing and synthesizing a multitude of ideas in various domains (Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines).

Grades 6–8

To become college and career ready, students:

- must have ample opportunities to take part in a variety of rich, structured conversations—as part of a whole class, in small groups, and with a partner—built around important content in various domains (Shift 2: Knowledge in the Disciplines); and
- must be able to contribute appropriately to these conversations, to make comparisons and contrasts, and to analyze and synthesize a multitude of ideas in accordance with the standards of evidence appropriate to a particular discipline. Whatever their intended major or career, high school graduates will depend heavily on their ability to listen attentively to others so that they will be able to build on others’ meritorious ideas while expressing their own ideas clearly and persuasively (Shift 4: Text-based Answers).

Assessing the Learning Standards for English Language Arts

The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests will focus entirely on the Learning Standards for English Language Arts & Literacy for each grade.

Reading, Writing, and Language

The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests will assess Reading, Writing, and Language Standards using multiple-choice, short-response, and extended-response questions. All questions will be based on close reading of informational and literary texts, including paired texts. All texts will be drawn from authentic, grade-level works that are worthwhile to read. The length of the texts on the 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests will typically be:

Length of Texts
Grade 3	500-600 words
Grade 4	600-700 words
Grade 5	700-800 words
Grade 6	750-850 words
Grade 7	800-900 words
Grade 8	900-1000 words

Please see pages 8–10 for further information about authentic texts and text selection.

Reading and Language Standards will be assessed using multiple-choice questions. Short-response (2-point) questions will primarily assess reading, but will also require writing and command of language. Extended-response (4-point) questions will primarily assess Writing from Sources, whereby student responses will be rated on the degree to which they can communicate a clear and coherent analysis of one or two texts.

Speaking and Listening

While Speaking and Listening Standards will NOT be assessed on the State test, they remain two of the most important components of college and career readiness and critical building blocks in students' ability to read and write at grade level. Speaking and Listening Standards provide the dialogic building blocks that directly support students in acquiring the necessary skills and knowledge to Read to Learn.

In Grades 3–5, Speaking and Listening Standards (practiced daily in evidence-based conversations about text) create habits, models, and developmental supports for students so that they are prepared to write from sources, strategically and correctly citing evidence from text to make strong arguments.

In Grades 6–8, Speaking and Listening Standards (practiced daily in evidence-based conversations about text) add to the foundation built in the early grades' instruction by strengthening and evolving habits, models, and developmental supports for students so that they are prepared to write from sources.

Only through rigorous, structured classroom discourse will students gain valuable experiences interrogating texts they need in order to meet the rigors of what is required in writing. It is imperative that teachers continue to instruct and assess the Speaking and Listening Standards in the classroom. Instructional resources and examples of formative assessments for the Speaking and Listening Standards can be found in the Grades 3–8 curriculum materials (<https://www.engageny.org>).

For more information about Curriculum Materials, please refer to EngageNY
(<http://engageny.org/common-core-curriculum/>).

What It Means to Use Authentic Texts

State testing programs use either commissioned or authentic texts, or a combination thereof, as passages for questions. Commissioned texts are authored by test developers or writers and are developed specifically for use in standardized tests. In contrast, authentic texts are published works that are typically encountered by students in daily life, such as in magazines, books, or newspapers. The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests will use only authentic texts.

Many of the Reading for Information Standards require students to recognize how authors support their opinions, to understand the author’s point of view and purpose, and to be able to discern well-supported arguments from those that are not. In order to assess these standards on the test, we must include text passages that express opinions and theories with which not all readers may agree. Students must demonstrate their ability to determine point of view, purpose, and success of argumentation with supporting evidence in subjects that they will encounter both in other academic classes and in their daily lives.

Using authentic texts allows for the inclusion of works of literature that are worthy of reading outside an assessment context. The use of authentic, meaningful texts may mean that some texts are more emotionally charged or may use language outside of a student’s particular cultural experience, including intentional and unintentional use of incorrect grammar and spelling. While all assessments will include appropriate texts, please be aware that authentic texts will likely prompt real responses—perhaps even strong disagreement—among our students. Students need to be prepared to respond accordingly while engaging with the test. The alternative would be to exclude many authors and texts that are capable of supporting the rigorous analysis called for by the Standards

For example, selections from Roald Dahl’s The BFG or Robert Coles’ The Story of Ruby Bridges may appear on tests even though the complete works from which they would be drawn include controversial ideas and language that some may find provocative. Additionally, selections from these authors may include writing that contains incorrect grammar and spelling. Both Dahl and Coles intentionally use incorrect grammar and spelling to develop characters, themes, and settings. However, both of these texts are foundational texts for the grade-band. While passages from these examples do not appear on this year’s test, passages drawn from similarly great works will be read in classrooms across the State, and some of them may end up on future tests.

The use of authentic, meaningful texts may also mean that some students have read texts included on the 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests prior to administration. For the very reasons that texts were selected for use on the assessment, it is possible that teachers have selected the same texts for use in their classrooms and students may have read the books that passages were drawn from for their personal reading.

Additionally, the use of authentic passages also means that students may encounter passages drawn from works commonly taught at higher grades. Oftentimes, parts of larger, more complex works are perfectly suited for younger readers.

Rigorous Texts

Selecting high-quality, grade-appropriate texts requires both objective text complexity metrics and expert judgment. For the 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests, both qualitative and quantitative measures are used to determine the complexity of the texts. Based on research and the guidance of nationally-recognized literacy experts,<sup>1</sup> the following ranges for quantitative measures were used to guide text selection:

Common Scale for Grade Band Level Text Difficulty Ranges<sup>2</sup>

Range of Informational Texts

One of the major shifts of the Learning Standards is an emphasis on developing skills for comprehending and analyzing informational texts. The Learning Standards for English Language Arts call for a balance of literary and informational texts. This balance is reflected in the standards, instruction, and in the texts selected for the Grades 3–8 tests.

Increased exposure to informational texts better prepares students for what they will encounter in college and the workplace. The array of passages selected for the 2018 tests will assess whether students can comprehend and analyze a range of informational texts.

The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests will have questions on a variety of informational texts. Each of these has unique characteristics and can be grouped by general similarities in structure and purpose. The chart below categorizes common informational texts according to their structure. Please note that the chart below is not specific to any grade, rather it is meant to help teachers understand the range of informational texts that students may encounter by the end of Grade 8.

The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests

Testing Sessions

The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests consist of two sessions that are administered over two days. Students will be provided as much time as necessary to complete each test session. On average, students in Grades 3–4 will likely need approximately 60–70 minutes of working time to complete each of the two test sessions. Students in Grades 5–8 will likely need approximately 80–90 minutes of working time to complete each of the two test sessions. For more information regarding what students may do once they have completed their work, please refer to the section “When Students Have Completed Their Tests.”

The tests must be administered under standard conditions and the directions must be followed carefully. The same test administration procedures must be used with all students so that valid inferences can be drawn from the test results.

NYSED devotes great attention to the security and integrity of the NYSTP. School administrators and teachers involved in the administration of State Assessments are responsible for understanding and adhering to the instructions set forth in the School Administrator’s Manual and the Teacher’s Directions. These resources will be found at the Office of State Assessment web site (<http://www.p12.nysed.gov/assessment/ei/eigen.html>).

When Students Have Completed Their Tests

Students who finish their assessment should be encouraged to go back and check their work. Once the student checks his or her work, or chooses not to, examination materials should be collected by the proctor. After a student’s assessment materials are collected, or the student has submitted the test if testing on computer, that student may be permitted to read silently.* This privilege is granted at the discretion of each school. No talking is permitted and no other schoolwork is permitted.

Given that the spring 2018 tests have no time limits, schools and districts have the discretion to create their own approach to ensure that all students who are productively working are given the time they need within the confines of the regular school day to continue to take the tests. If the test is administered in a large-group setting, school administrators may prefer to allow students to hand in their test materials, or submit the test if testing on computer, as they finish and then leave the room. If so, take care that students leave the room as quietly as possible so as not to disturb the students who are still working on the test.

*For more detailed information about test administration, including proper procedures for talking to students during testing and handling reading materials, please refer to the School Administrator’s Manual and the Teacher’s Directions.

Test Design

The charts below illustrate the test designs for the 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests. Note that the test designs have changed from 2017. This chart details the number of passages and the type(s) of questions in each session. Session 1 consists of passages with multiple-choice questions only. Session 2 consists of passages with short- and extended-response questions only.

Also noted is the approximate number of informational and literary passages present on the 2018 test. Please note that embedded field test questions and passages are included in the design. It will not be apparent to students whether a question is an embedded field test question that does not count toward their score or an operational test question that does count toward their score.

Test Blueprint

The charts below show the percentage of points that relate to Reading, Language, and Writing Standards. When reading these charts, it is essential to remember that most questions assess many standards simultaneously. Additionally, Reading Standards are divided by focus (Key Ideas, Craft and Structure, and Integration of Knowledge) to help guide instruction.

Grades 3–5

Area of Focus		Approximate Percentage of Points
Reading Standards (RL and RI)		100% of points require close reading
Language and Writing Standards		Up to 50% of points require writing and command of language
Approximate Percent of Reading Points
Key Ideas and Details	Craft and Structure	Integration of Knowledge and Ideas
Up to 65%	Up to 35%	Up to 30%

Grades 6–8

Area of Focus		Approximate Percentage of Points
Reading Standards (RL and RI)		100% of points require close reading
Language and Writing Standards		Up to 40% of points require writing and command of language
Approximate Percent of Reading Points
Key Ideas and Details	Craft and Structure	Integration of Knowledge and Ideas
Up to 60%	Up to 40%	Up to 40%

It should be noted that Standards RL3.1, RI3.1, RL4.1, RI4.1, etc., provide a foundation for all questions on the tests, as all will require text-based responses. Likewise, Standards RL3.10, RI3.10, RL4.10, etc., form the heart of all text-based instruction. While not assessed directly in questions, RL3.10, RI3.10, RL4.10, etc., are present on the test in the form of rigorous, worthwhile texts.

Question Formats

The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests contain multiple-choice (1-point), short-response (2-point), and extended-response (4-point) questions. For multiple-choice questions, students select the correct response from four answer choices. For short-response and extended-response questions, students write an answer to an open-ended question.

Multiple-Choice Questions

Multiple-choice questions are designed to assess Reading and Language Standards. They will ask students to analyze different aspects of a given text, including central idea, style elements, character and plot development, and vocabulary. Almost all questions, including vocabulary questions, will only be answered correctly if the student comprehends and makes use of the whole passage.

Multiple-choice questions will assess Reading and Language Standards in a range of ways. Some will ask students to analyze aspects of text or vocabulary. Many questions will require students to combine skills. For example, questions may ask students to identify a segment of text that best supports the central idea. To answer correctly, a student must first comprehend the central idea and then show understanding of how that idea is supported. Questions will require more than rote recall or identification. Students will also be required to negotiate plausible, text-based distractors.<sup>3</sup> Each distractor will require students to comprehend the whole passage.

Short-Response Questions

Short-response questions are designed primarily to assess Reading and Language Standards. These are single questions in which students use textual evidence to support their own answers to an inferential question. These questions ask the student to make an inference (a claim, position, or conclusion) based on his or her analysis of the passage, and then provide two pieces of text-based evidence to support his or her answer.

Sample Two-Credit Question:

What is the main purpose of the 2018 Test Guide? Provide two text-based details to support your answer.

Sample Response: The guide is designed to help teachers prepare students to be assessed on their mastery of the Learning Standards for English Language Arts. The guide provides an overview of the Learning Standards for English Language Arts and specific information about how the Learning Standards for English Language Arts will be assessed, including Test Blueprint and Question Formats.

The purpose of the short-response questions is to assess a student's ability to comprehend and analyze text. In responding to these questions, students will be expected to write in complete sentences. Responses should require no more than three complete sentences. The rubric used to evaluate these types of responses is provided on page 17. It is important to note that students who answer the question only using details from the text will NOT receive full credit. A full-credit response is characterized by both an inference and textual support.

<sup>3</sup> A distractor is an incorrect response that may appear to be a plausible correct response to a student who has not mastered the skill or concept being assessed.

Extended-Response Questions

Extended-response questions are designed to assess Writing from Sources. They will focus primarily on Writing Standards. In Grade 3, extended-response questions will require comprehension and analysis of an individual text. In Grades 4–8, extended-response questions will require students to read and analyze paired texts. Paired texts are related by theme, genre, tone, time period, or other characteristics. Many extended-response questions will ask students to express a position and support it with text-based details. Extended-response questions allow students to demonstrate their ability to write a coherent essay using textual evidence to support their ideas.

Student responses will be evaluated based on Writing Standards and a student’s command of evidence to defend his or her point.

English Language Arts Rubrics

The 2018 Grades 3–8 English Language Arts Tests will be scored using the same rubrics as were used in 2017. Both the English Language Arts 2-Point and 4-Point Rubrics reflect the demands called for by the Learning Standards.

Short-Response (2-Point) Holistic Rubric

Short-response questions will ask students to make a claim, take a position, or draw a conclusion, and then support it with details. This structure forms the foundation of the Learning Standards. As such, the 2-point rubric focuses on both the inference and evidence a student provides. This structure allows students to have wide latitude in responding to each prompt so long as their response is supported by the text.

Additionally, the expectation for all short responses will be complete, coherent sentences. By weaving these elements together, the questions, responses, and scores remain firmly focused on student reading ability.

2-Point Rubric—Short Response

Score	Response Features
2 Points	The features of a 2-point response are <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Valid inferences and/or claims from the text where required by the prompt</li><li>• Evidence of analysis of the text where required by the prompt</li><li>• Relevant facts, definitions, concrete details, and/or other information from the text to develop response according to the requirements of the prompt</li><li>• Sufficient number of facts, definitions, concrete details, and/or other information from the text as required by the prompt</li><li>• Complete sentences where errors do not impact readability</li></ul>
1 Point	The features of a 1-point response are <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• A mostly literal recounting of events or details from the text as required by the prompt</li><li>• Some relevant facts, definitions, concrete details, and/or other information from the text to develop response according to the requirements of the prompt</li><li>• Incomplete sentences or bullets</li></ul>
0 Points*	The features of a 0-point response are <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• A response that does not address any of the requirements of the prompt or is totally inaccurate</li><li>• A response that is not written in English</li><li>• A response that is unintelligible or indecipherable</li></ul>

- If the prompt requires two texts and the student only references one text, the response can be scored no higher than a 1.

* Condition Code A is applied whenever a student who is present for a test session leaves an entire constructed-response question in that session completely blank (no response attempted).

Extended-Response (4-Point) Holistic Rubric

Writing does not take place in a vacuum. To be college and career ready, one must be able to write for a purpose using information from textual sources. Extended-response questions on the 2018 English Language Arts Tests will ask students to analyze texts and address meaningful questions using strategic, textual details. Scores for extended responses will be based on four overarching criteria:

- Content and Analysis—the extent to which the essay conveys complex ideas and information clearly and accurately in order to support claims in an analysis of topics or texts
- Command of Evidence—the extent to which the essay presents evidence from the provided texts to support analysis and reflection
- Coherence, Organization, and Style—the extent to which the essay logically organizes complex ideas, concepts, and information using formal style and precise language
- Control of Conventions—the extent to which the essay demonstrates command of the conventions of standard English grammar, usage, capitalization, punctuation, and spelling

These four characteristics combined make up the focus of the 4-point, extended-response tasks, Writing from Sources. Whether in response to an individual text or a paired selection, a student will be asked to synthesize, evaluate, and evidence his or her thinking in a coherent and legible manner. Please note the holistic 4-point rubric for Writing in Grade 3 on page 19, Grades 4–5 on page 20, and Grades 6–8 on page 21.
