- 3) Notations and abbreviations have their usual meaning.
- 4) Simple calculator is allowed.

Q1) A) Fill in the blanks :

[5 × 2 = 10]

- a) If \bar{X} is 10 and coefficient of variation is 40%, then variance is equal to _____.
- b) _____ type cumulative frequencies are non-decreasing.
- c) The median of 10 numbers is 25. If the highest number is increased by 5, then the median will be _____.
- d) If $V(X) = 5$, then $V(3X + 2) =$ _____.
- e) Karl Pearson's correlation coefficient lies between _____.

B) State whether the following statements are True or False : [3 × 2 = 6]

- a) Two regression lines never intersect each other.
- b) Arithmetic mean can be determined graphically.
- c) Standard deviation is always non-negative.

P.T.O.

Q2) Attempt any four of the following :

[4 × 4 = 16]

- Define mode. State its two merits and two demerits.
- Describe scatter diagram and explain how it is used to measure correlation.
- Draw histogram for the following income distribution.

Weekly income	1000-1500	1500-2000	2000-2500	2500-3000	3000-3500	3500-4000
No. of workers	80	100	150	180	140	100

- The following results of capital employed and profit earned by a firm in 10 successive years are calculated.

	Mean	Standard Deviation
Capital employed (₹ thousand)	55	28.7
Profit earned (₹ thousand)	13	85

Coefficient of correlation = 0.96

Estimate the amount of capital to be employed to earn profit of ₹20,000/-.

- Following is the data related to the frequency distribution of monthly wages of 100 workers.

Monthly wages in Rs.	4000-5000	5000-6000	6000-7000	7000-8000	8000-9000	9000-10000
No. of workers	11	15	27	19	16	12

Find :

- class-width of first class.
- class mark of second class.
- number of workers having wages less than Rs. 6,000/-
- number of workers having wages more than Rs. 6,000/-

- f) From the following data, compute an index for the year 2012 taking 2011 as base by simple average of Price Relatives method using arithmetic mean.

Commodity	2011 Price (Rs.)	2012 Price (Rs.)
A	1	5
B	2	4
C	3	3
D	4	2

Q3) Attempt any four of the following :

[4 × 4 = 16]

- a) Define variable. Explain discrete variable and continuous variable with example.
- b) Explain the concept of index number. State uses of it.
- c) A survey revealed the following frequency distribution.

Distance travelled in km per litre of petrol (X)	40-45	45-50	50-55	55-60	60-65
No. of motor cycles (f)	10	17	23	40	10

Find : i) mean ii) mode of distance travelled per km.

- d) Calculate quartile deviation and coefficient of quartile deviation for the following data.
35, 52, 48, 69, 30, 40, 42, 38, 48, 36, 52
- e) The two regression equations are $3x - y - 5 = 0$ and $4x - 3y = 0$. Find
i) arithmetic means of X and Y.
ii) regression coefficients of X on Y and Y on X.
- f) The median for the following frequency distribution is 27 (in hundreds of Rs.).

Find missing frequencies of the data.

Expenditure (in hundreds of Rs.)	0-10	10-20	20-30	30-40	40-50	Total
Number of families	3	--	20	11	--	80

Q4) Attempt any four of the following :

[4 × 4 = 16]

- a) Define regression. State any three properties of regression coefficients.
- b) What do you mean by Central tendency? State the requirements of good measure of Central tendency.
- c) Draw a pie diagram to represent the following information of a company during a year.

Item of cost	Rs. in crore
Labour cost	10
Overheads cost	30
Materials cost	60

- d) For a set of 90 items, the mean and standard deviation are 59 and 9 respectively. For 40 items selected from these 90 items, the mean and standard deviation are 54 and 6 respectively. Find the mean and standard deviation of remaining items.
- e) Calculate Spearman's rank correlation coefficient for the following data.

X	49	69	39	49	29
Y	59	59	59	49	39

- f) Following information relating to works in an industrial town is given.

Items for consumption	Consumer price index in 2005	Proportion of expenditure on the item
i) Food, drinks and tobacco	132	60%
ii) Clothing	154	12%
iii) Fuel and lighting	147	16%
iv) Housing	178	8%
v) Miscellaneous	158	4%

Average wage per month in the year 2000 is Rs. 2,000/-. What should be the dearness allowance expressed as percentage of wages? What should be the average wage per worker per month in 2005 in that town so that the standard of living of the workers does not fall below the 2000 level?

Q5) Attempt any one of the following :

[1 × 6 = 6]

- a) Which of the following two series A and B is more stable? Justify

A	4	4	2	3	6	8	2	0	1	-1
B	8	7	5	5	6	7	4	3	4	1

- b) From the following data, compute price index number for the current year by using

- i) Laspeyre's method
- ii) Paasche's method
- iii) Bowley's method

Commodity	Base Year		Current Year
	Price (Rs.)	Quantity (Kg.)	Price (Rs.)	Quantity (Kg.)
A	1	6	5	8
B	2	7	4	7
C	3	8	3	6

Q1) Case:

Sarita had been working in finance department of the Lakshmi Sporting Goods Manufacturing company for the four years since she graduated. From high school, she was bright, attractive and popular and had done well in the company as her recent promotion to the designation of senior accountant proved.

One of her new job responsibilities required Sarita to go to the warehouse once a week to check on and verify various inventory and shipment information. This meant that she often worked for three to four hours at a time in the shipping office. In order to reduce the noise from the operations around the office was completely walled in. On these trips to shipping, Sarita began to work closely with the shipping clerk, Aditya. Aditya, was an expert employee of 10 years with Lakshmi sporting, but was divorced. Aditya maintained all the shipping and inventory information as it was processed.

Since Sarita had never before worked in an actual manufacturing and warehouse operation, she was nervous at first. However, she was very relieved to find that Aditya was very nice and helpful. Sarita found Aditya easy to talk to because he seemed so interested in what Sarita was thinking and doing.

During her 4th visit to the warehouse, Sarita and Aditya were talking as usual about the weeks shipping activity. As they were talking, Aditya casually walked to Sarita's side of the desk and sat on the edge of the desk right next to Sarita.

Sarita tried not to feel uncomfortable with Aditya so close. At a break in the discussion, Aditya looked at Sarita very seriously and asked her "Do you like to go dancing?"

Sarita, a little surprised by the question, replied evenly: "Well, I like to, but I have a difficult time getting my boyfriend to go with me. Aditya interrupted: "I wasn't talking about your boyfriend. Would you like to go dancing with me?".

Sarita, not sure what Aditya was getting at, so she -laughed and said “Well, sure, maybe some other time”. Her voice trailed off. She was trying to be polite but did not really want to commit herself. She quickly picked up a file and brought that discussion back to shipping information. She finished her work, then returned to her department. She was uneasy about Aditya’s behavior and invitation.

When she returned to her desk, her supervisor Ramesh noticed that she seemed to be distracted, and asked if everything was OK. Sarita explained what had just occurred and wondered if Aditya had some ulterior motive for asking her to go dancing. Ramesh, not sensing a problem, shrugged off what happened. I wouldn’t give it much thought you are probably misunderstanding Aditya’s comments. He might have just asked very casually. Don’t be concerned”, he advised Sarita.

Next week at her regular time Sarita returned to the warehouse. As she walked into the shipping office and close the door Aditya jumped up from his chair and walked briskly over to Sarita smiling. He was about to put his arms around Sarita, but she quickly moved back. He stared into Sarita’s eyes and told her “Sarita, I really missed you. I am glad you are back.”

Sarita was completely startled, shocked and afraid and began to cry. Dropping the file, she was carrying, she ran from the office back to her department. And decided to go to Ramesh office to describe what just happened.

Case questions:

- 1) Which problem is this a case indicating to?
- 2) Does the company have a responsibility and or liability?
- 3) What should the supervisor do now?

Q2) Case: [15]

Looking across the rows of men suits, Brijesh spots Peter working with one of his employees, a sales associate. They are trying to complete a sales transaction on the new WIZARD information system. Brijesh watches as Peter again fumbles his way through another transaction. Almost instinctively, he rolls his eyes and shakes his head.

Brijesh manages the men’s furnishing Group for the central mall store of the H&M store chain. As one of the younger group managers, Brijesh has charge of over 20 full time and part time sales and service representatives in four units: suits and outerwear, leisure clothes, shoes and accessories. Brijesh has been with central mall since joining their management associates development program after graduating from college. Peter is about 15 years older than Brijesh, with about that many more years experience in the retail trade. Peter began his career in a floor sales position and after years of hard work, was promoted to supervisor leisure clothes unit.

Beginning about six months ago, central store began its system migration in brackets as the data processing staff called it off replacing the somewhat old computer and information processing system with the one that was more streamlined. Under the new, integrated system all the retail functions like inventory, sales and customer tracking, returns and adjustments, accounting and profitability calculations etc would be joined together and operated out of the same database. Further, all stores would be linked together, giving headquarters better ongoing control of the company as a whole and of stores and departments in particular.

As a result of this migration, virtually every job in the company was changed in some way. The jobs of the sales associates changed most: virtually every product, customer or financial transaction was to be done differently. While the complexity of any task might be small, the combined weight of all the changes resulted in major learning stress on employees. They had to learn how to operate the system, access it, complete all transactions through it, and make any needed correction directly on the point-of-sale terminal - all while the customer waited across the counter.

As the kickoff date for the conversion to the new system near, all employees were brought in for a comprehensive 4 day training program. Managers and supervisors were trained first so that they would serve as aids and coaches to the other employees once the Wiz was operational. Brijesh and Peter attended one of the early programs together. Brijesh was impressed by how much the program covered. The trainers went through every conceivable transaction and procedure, demonstrating and explaining them. Each participant in the class was able to practice some of the procedure on the demo terminal. The notebook provided in the program was reasonably thorough, even if it was poorly organized. As was characteristic, Peter approached the training with gusto and enthusiasm. Peter had never worked much with computers before, and his anxiety about learning how to use the system was more than offset by a strong motivation to learn how to use the system. James was particularly pleased with this matter because he was concerned that Peter's strong people orientation might not have a corresponding technical aptitude.

It has now been more than a month since the new system started up. All the associates in the store completed the system training shortly before the conversion date and by now, most are operating fairly well with it.

Indeed, that's what is so troubling to Bob. British. Brijesh. In spite of the training and the time on the system, Peter just hasn't made satisfactory progress mastering it. Brijesh sees Peter's problem in various ways, like the instance he has just witnessed. There was Peter, working with one of his sales associates, trying to complete a distinct, but not that unusual, procedure. It was clear that the associate actually could complete the procedure better than Peter. Peter was following a trial-and-error process of running through different key combinations to see if any worked. The customer was growing annoyed. Brijesh thought about other instances. For example, Peter had asked Brijesh about how to complete the same procedure on four different occasions in the course of a 10 day. At times, Brijesh would watch Peter refer a customer to another sales station or have the customer wait while he asked another associate to process a complicated transaction. At one point, Brijesh asked Peter to check his manual, but Peter could only say it didn't help him that much and besides, he wasn't sure where he had left it.

On top of it all, Brijesh is now sensing that Peter is becoming more frustrated and stressed by the situation. He now thinks that Peter is trying to hide from Bob his discomfort with the system. In a way, this is Peter's method of signaling to Brijesh that Peter's knowledge of the new system cannot be discussed. Bob one Brijesh wonders how much longer he can go without taking action. Already, there are some grumblings from the other associates that Peter cannot be counted on to help them with their problems. Bob has noticed how Peter's unease with the process is putting some additional burden on the other employees, as well as the customers. Brijesh knows that Peter is smart enough to learn this material, but cannot understand why it is so difficult. Brijesh wants to help but also feels that Peter needs to show some progress and fairly soon or else Brijesh may be forced to take some actions he would rather not take.

Case questions:

- 1) Is there a training problem?
- 2) What can Brijesh do to assist Peter in completing the learning process?
- 3) What should Brijesh expect of Peter's performance in conducting and completing his own learning?
- 4) How should Brijesh respond to Peter in the next few weeks?

Q3) Case:

[10]

Ravi is VP manufacturing and operations of a medium size pharmaceutical company. Ravi has a Ph.D. in chemistry but has not been directly involved in Research and New product development for 20 years. Through experience and practice he runs the operations well. The company does not have a problem of turnover, but it is obvious to Ravi and their key management personnel that the temporary workers are not working anywhere near their full potential. Ravi is very upset with the situation because with rising costs the only way that the company can continue to prosper is to increase the productivity of its workers.

Ravi called the human resource manager, Rahul and wanted to know-

- What is wrong with our people?
- Our wage surveys show that we are among the best paymasters in the industry.
- The working conditions we provide are excellent.
- The fringe benefits are also good.

Yet these people are not motivated. What in the world do they want?

Rahul replied "I have told you and the president time after time that money, working conditions and benefits are not good enough. Employees also want other things to motivate them. Also, I have been conducting some random confidential interviews with some of our temporary workers, and they tell me that they are very discouraged because, no matter how hard they work they get the same pay and opportunities for advancement as their co-workers who are just scrapping by."

Ravi then replied "okay. you are the motivation expert; what do we do about this? We have to increase their performance."

Case questions:

- 1) Identify various issues in this case.
- 2) How would you respond to Ravi's last question and statement if you were the human resource manager in this company?

Q4) Case:

[10]

Good people- valuable employees- quit their jobs every day. Usually, they leave for better positions elsewhere. Take Kiran, an experienced Insurance manager in a renowned insurance company who wrote the following remarks on his exit interview questionnaire.

“This job isn’t right for me. I like to have more input on decisions that affect me- more of a chance to show what I can do. I don’t get enough feedback to tell if I’m doing a good job or not, and the company keeps people in the dark about where it’s headed. Basically, I feel like an interchangeable part most of the time.”

In answer to the question about whether the company could have done anything to keep him, Kiran replied simply, “probably not.”

Why do so many promising employees leave their jobs? Why do so many others stay on but perform at minimal levels for lack of better alternatives? One of the main reasons- ken’s reason- can be all but individual, because it’s so common in so many organizations: a system wide failure to keep good people.

Corporations should be concerned about employees like Kiran. By investing in human capital, they may actually help reduce turnover, protect training investments, increase productivity, improve quality, and reap the benefits of innovative thinking and teamwork.

Human resource professionals and managers can contribute to corporate success by encouraging employee’s empowerment, security, identity, connectedness and competence.

How? By recognising the essential components of keeping their best people and by understanding what enhances and diminishes those components.

Kiran doubts that his company will ever change, but other organizations are taking positive steps to focus on and enhance employee retention. As a result, they are reducing turnover, improving quality, increasing productivity and protecting their training investments.

Case questions:

- 1) Do you think that Kiran’s self-esteem had anything to do with his leaving the firm?
- 2) What do you think were Kiran’s satisfaction with and commitment to the job and firm he is leaving?
- 3) What lesson can this company learn from the case of Kiran? What can and should it now do?

Over a period spanning six and a half decades, the Haldiram's Group (Haldiram's) had emerged as a household name for ready-to-eat snack foods in India. It had come a long way since its relatively humble beginning in 1937 as a small time sweet shop in Bikaner, in the Rajasthan state of India. In 2001, the turnover of the Haldiram's was Rs. 4 billion.

The company offered a wide variety of traditional Indian sweets and snacks at competitive prices that appealed to people belonging to different age groups. Haldiram's had many 'firsts' to its credit. It was the first company in India to brand 'namkeens³'. The group also pioneered new ways of packaging namkeens.

Its packaging techniques increased the shelf life of namkeens from less than a week to more than six months. It was also one of the first companies in India to open a restaurant in New Delhi offering traditional Indian snack food items such as "panipuri," "chatpapri," and so on, which catered to the needs of hygiene conscious non-resident Indians and other foreign customers. Since the very beginning, the brand 'Haldiram's' had been renowned for its quality products.

The company employed the best available technology in all its manufacturing facilities in India. Given the increasing popularity of Haldiram's products, the group planned to expand its operations. Similarly, Haldiram's launched 'Bhelpuri,' keeping in mind customers residing in western India. The company offered certain products such as 'Nazarana,' 'Panchratan,' and 'Premium' only during the festival season in gift packs. These measures helped Haldiram's compete effectively in a market that was flooded with a variety of snack items in different shapes, sizes and flavors.

Haldiram's offered its products at competitive prices in order to penetrate the huge unorganized market of namkeens and sweets. The company's pricing strategy took into consideration the price conscious nature of consumers in India. Haldiram's launched namkeens in small packets of 30 grams, priced as low as Rs.5. The company also launched namkeens in five different packs with prices varying according to their weights. The prices also varied on the basis of the type of namkeens and the raw materials used to manufacture it. The cost of metallized packing⁷ also had an impact on the price, especially in the case of snack foods. The company revised the prices of its products upwards only when there was a steep increase in the raw material costs or additional taxes were imposed.

Haldiram's developed a strong distribution network to ensure the widest possible reach for its products in India as well as overseas. From the manufacturing unit, the company's finished goods were passed on to carrying and forwarding (C&F) agents. C&F agents passed on the products to distributors, who shipped them to retail outlets. While the Delhi unit of Haldiram's had 25 C&F agents and 700 distributors in India, the Nagpur unit had 25 C&F agents and 375 distributors.

Haldiram's also had 35 sole distributors in the international market. The Delhi and Nagpur units together catered to 0.6 million retail outlets in India. C&F agents received a commission of around 5%, while distributors earned margins ranging from 8% to 10%. The retail outlets earned margins ranging from 14% to 30%. At the retail outlet level, margins varied according to the weight of packs sold.

Retailers earned more margins ranging from 25% to 30% by selling 30 gms pouches (priced at Rs.5) compared to the packs of higher weights. Apart from the exclusive showrooms owned by Haldiram's, the company offered its products through retail outlets such as supermarkets, sweet shops, provision stores, bakeries and ice cream parlors. The products were also available in public places such as railway stations and bus stations that accounted for a sizeable amount of its sales.

- a) What strategies were used by Haldiram to sell their products?
- b) What pricing strategy Haldiram adopted?
- c) What distribution strategy was adopted by Haldiram?

Q3) Case Study 2 :

In 1997, BIL, whose business seemed to be doing well, instead of concentrating on it, virtually charted a new course by seeking to reinvent itself. It built a new corporate identity and adopted a colourful and identifiable logo with a new base line - 'Eat Healthy, Think better.' From being a manufacturer of baked products, BIL kicked off a diversification exercise to become a comprehensive foods and beverages company making cheese and other dairy products, in addition to its bakery products.

Others felt that BIL's makeover decision may have been influenced, by the threat of potential competition. They also felt that with the organised biscuit market in India being commoditised, and the major chunk being controlled by the unbranded segment, reliance on biscuits alone could be detrimental to its long-term interests.

However, some analysts were of the opinion that the diversification of BIL into relatively new areas was risky, and that it should have concentrated on its core competence, the biscuit business.

As a first step in its makeover plan, BIL hired a Paris based design studio-Shining Strategic design, to craft a new logo and corporate slogan. Its work involved understanding the perceived and potential value of the brand where everything from colours and symbols to the typeface, was evaluated. The work also involved looking at the potential of the market and seeing where BIL could venture in future.

Research³ showed that the brand 'Britannia' was synonymous with trust and quality, and the wide portfolio of products was seen as a source of strength. But, BIL was aiming at faster growth, by expanding its business within the bakery segment and in select synergistic areas.

The fact that the existing brand was too closely associated with the bakery business, could have been a hindrance to BIL's diversification efforts. Therefore, Britannia needed a more dynamic expression. So there was a need to restage the logo, with the twin objectives of communicating modernity and dynamism.

While developing the new logo and brand statement, the existing red and white shield like unit was retained with a modern rendition. The new corporate identity had three colours red (symbolising energy and vitality), green (nutrition and freshness) and white (purity) which collectively represented what consumers looked for in foods and beverage. Research had shown that the brand statement, Eat Healthy, Think Better, captured the essence of the Indian concept of the unity of body and mind.

- a) What potential challenges BIL had to face?
- b) What steps BIL took as its makeover plan?
- c) What ideas were behind designing a new logo?

Q4) Case Study 3 :

In 2002, Luxor Writing Instruments Private Limited (LWIPL) had emerged as the market leader in the premium pens² segment in India, with a market share of 60%. The company held a 10% share in the writing instruments industry, next only to the market leader, Reynolds that held 12%. LWIPL had been in the pen industry for nearly four decades. The company adopted innovative marketing strategies that had made it one of the most popular pen manufacturers in India.

The 1980s witnessed an increased acceptance of ball point pens and Wilson Jotter was considered to be the market leader in this segment. The pens manufactured by Jotter were popularly called Jotter pens. The market for ball point pens was also dominated by domestic players in the unorganized market. With the increase in demand, existing players started expanding their capacities while many new players began entering the market.

In 1982, Deepak Jain, managing director of Luxor Pen Company (Luxor) entered into an agreement with the Pilot Corporation of Japan to officially launch Pilot pens in India. In 1984, Suraj Mal Jain⁵ started a manufacturing unit for ball point pens and refills in Kolkata and named it as Line Writing Aids Private Limited. The company launched new varieties such as disposable pens into the market.

In 1986, the French pen company, Reynolds entered the Indian market through its subsidiary, GM Pens International Limited by setting up a manufacturing plant at Chennai. It used the latest technology to make pens and refills of better quality and offered them at an affordable price. The Reynolds 045 pens became very popular among the regular pen users; especially among the school and college students.

By early 2002, some of the most popular brands in the Indian pen market comprised of domestic brands such as Reynolds, Luxor, Cello, Rotomac, Kores, Today's, Montex and Add pens and foreign brands such as Mont Blanc, Flair (with Pierre Cardin), Uniball and more. Consumers now had a wider choice, both in terms of different variety and the number of brands available.

Gradually, the competition among different pen brands intensified, which in turn, prompted these companies to increase their spending on promotional activities. According to the 2001-2002 figures, the writing instruments industry in India was worth approximately Rs.15 billion¹⁰. Studies¹¹ on the industry has revealed that there were around fifteen organized players, which included both domestic and international companies and more than 600 unorganized players.

Though, in the past, unorganized players accounted for a sizable share of the industry, their share had decreased significantly from around 90% in 1990 to just 20% in 2002. The huge potential that the industry offered prompted existing companies to expand their manufacturing facilities and encouraged new companies to enter the industry. This had led to intense competition in the industry. The studies also revealed that the companies in the organized sector were putting efforts in offering good quality products at competitive prices. At the same time, impetus was given to increase the visibility of their products in the minds of target customers.

In November 2001, LWIPL launched 'Special Moment', a gift pack consisting of Parker Vector and Parker Beta pens, which had the signature of the brand ambassador, Amitabh Bacchan inscripted on it.

These pens were primarily targeted at pen collectors, who were fond of Parker pens. In February 2002, Parker launched the 'Black and White' range of Parker Vector ball pens which were priced at Rs.145 each.

In mid 2002, the company launched the 'Football Legends World Cup edition' of Parker Vector pens in order to cash in on the popularity that the event enjoyed. The pens had photographs of famous football stars such as Maradona, and Pele inscribed on them. These pens were primarily targeted at avid football fans, who would be interested in collecting pens bearing photographs of their favorite players.

In December 2002, LWIPL launched the "Gajgamini" range of Parker Sonnet fountain pens. The limited edition of pens (only 500 pens were released) was named after the paintings created by noted artist MF Hussain¹⁶ and also had his signature inscripted on them. LWIPL priced these pens at Rs.5000 each.

As the Parker pens were initially targeted at the premium segment and carried a high price tag, they were launched only in the four metros - Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata and Chennai. The pens were made available in large stationary stores and point of purchase displays were attached a lot of significance.

These pens were put on display in special racks so that people could notice the complete range of pens. As the demand of Parker pens grew, they were made available in other urban areas of the country. In order to increase the reach of Parker pens, the low priced versions were made available in small stationary shops. LWIPL later opened exclusive outlets of Parker Pens in all major cities in India. When LWIPL launched Papermate pens in India, it changed its distribution strategy vis-a-vis that of Parker pens. The pens were targeted at a wider cross - section of people, which included students, executives and elderly.

- a) What strategy Reynolds adopted after entering in India?
- b) What promotional strategies Luxor adopted?
- c) What distribution strategies were adopted by Luxor?

P.T.O.

- Q2) The Board of directors of PQL Engineering Co. Pvt. Ltd. requests you to prepare a statement showing the working capital requirement. A level of activity of 1,56,000 units of production. [15]

Particular	Per unit (Rs.)
Raw materials	90
Direct labour	40
Overheads	75
Total cost	205
Profit	60
Selling price per unit	265

- Raw materials are in stock on an average for one month.
- Materials are in process 50% complete on an average for two weeks.
- Finished goods are in stock on an average for one month.
- Credit allowed by suppliers for one month.
- Time lag in payment from debtors is two months.
- Lag in payment of wages 1 1/2 weeks.
- Lag in payment of overheads one month.

20% of the output is sold against cash. Cash in hand and bank expected Rs. 60,000. Assume that production is carried on evenly throughout the year, wages and overheads occurred similarly and a time period of 4 weeks is equivalent to a month.

- Q3) M/S. Riya and Co., has the following capital structure as on 31st December, 2021: [15]

Particulars	Amount (Rs.)
10% Debentures	3,00,000
9% Preference Shares	2,00,000
Equity 5,000 Shares of Rs. 100 each	5,00,000
Total	10,00,000

The equity shares of the company are quoted at Rs. 102 and the company is expected to declare a dividend of Rs. 9 per share for 2021. The company has acquired a dividend growth rate of 5% which is expected to be maintained.

- a) Assuming the tax rate applicable to the company is 50%. Calculate the weighted average cost of capital. State your assumptions if any.
- b) Assuming in the above exercise, that the company can raise additional term loan at 12% for Rs. 5,00,000 to finance an expansion. Calculate the revised weighted cost of capital. The company assessment is that it will be in a position to increase the dividend from Rs. 9 per share to Rs.10 per share, but the business risk associated with new financing may bring down the market price from Rs. 102 to Rs. 96 per share.

Q4) Existing Capital structure of XYZ Co. Ltd. is as follows. [15]

14% Term Loan from SBI Bank	5,00,000
12% Debentures (1000 each)	3,00,000
Equity Share Capital (20,000 Shares)	2,00,000

The equity shares of the company are at Rs. 225. It is expected that the company will pay a current dividend of Rs. 15 per share. A growth rate of 9% was registered in the past which is expected to be maintained. The tax rate applicable may be assumed at 40%.

Calculate the Weighted Average Cost of Capital (WACC).

What will the effect on weighted average cost of capital after addition of Rs. 5,00,000 debt by issue of 14% Debentures?
